I don't know how that's possible, considering I have e-mails from her. Interesting, let me know how it pans out, because if you have problems I will stop using them.

So Sandra I finally called Sandra again- over 90 days since first contact. She says that she has never spoken to either of you and " Amando just worked with the Downtown BID and they were happy with him so right now you are the only one with a problem with Armando." :/ They are getting me a bid for Monday. We will see how reasonable it is.
